The Tackart family went out to breakfast: Mom, dad, Joshua and Jessica. They each got a side with their meal: toast, a muffin, bagel and biscuit. Each family member put something different on their side: butter, cream cheese, jelly and peanut butter. Use the clues to find out which family member ate which side and topping.

1. Joshua enjoyed peanut butter as his topping.
2. Mom did not have a muffin or biscuit as her side but she did have cream cheese.
3. Dad ate a muffin but did not have butter as the topping.
4. The person who had a biscuit, had butter as the topping.
5. The toast did not have cream cheese.

Play Up and Play the Game!

JUDE MCCUDDEN, GIRL FROM OZ

Many occupations now did not exist when I began tertiary study. Apart from those related to computer technology, one that fascinates me is sports psychology. I spent many hours transporting, encouraging and watching my own kids play sport. Sitting on a wind-swept sand dune straining to see your son compete in surfing competitions is a far cry from sitting in a stand at the ice hockey. I heard a sports psychologist explain the techniques Jets players could use to prepare mentally for the intensity of the Stanley Cup play offs. I likened her advice on how the mind can switch off to relax and then psych itself back up for the next 24 hours onslaught, to what a general might offer his army before battle. If done well, any sporting club can be a benevolent but strict mentor. Sport ethics of winning or losing graciously, being a team player, self discipline and organization are positive life skills. The social cohesiveness and mental health advantages of the current Jets success is evident when 25,000 people, from diverse cultures and backgrounds, can come together in a positive and peaceful way. And the huge benefits this has on a city that has waited patiently for this team to return to their true home.

"Verily, Verily, I say unto you, I am the door of the sheep. All that ever came before me are thieves and robbers: but the sheep did not hear them. I am the door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture. The thief cometh not, but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly. I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep."

Something to Ponder

"As a spiritual person, nature for me has always been a healing place. Going back all the way to my childhood on the farm, the fields and forests were places of adventure and self-discovery. Animals were companions and friends, and the world moved at a slower, more rational pace than the bustling cities where I'd resided my adult life."
~ David Mixner
